The Big3 Champions series by Axie Infinity is a slam dunk

Earlier today, the majority of the Fire-Tier editions of Trilogy were purchased by members of the Axie Infinity society, the token-based online video game, giving them a stake in the defending champions of the 2021 BIG3.

As reported in April 2022, this purchase is a part of BIG3's proposed new ownership model, which involves the use of blockchain technology to promote NFTs with ownership-like benefits.

Other proprietors of the BIG3 FEAT include Gary Vaynerchuk, VeeFriends, DeGods, Bill Lee and MyDoge/DogeCoin, Krause House, PayPal Co-Founder Ken Howery, and Snoop Dogg.

Axie Infinity (AXS) gained 2% in a week despite these encouraging underlying factors. The Sandbox (SAND), on the other hand, is doing even worse, having dropped by 1.15 percent in seven days to $1.31 on the market.

After a 76% increase, the Sandbox (SAND) fell 1.15%

The Sandbox (SAND) is a virtual interactive environment built on Ethereum where users may make, test, discover, engage, exchange, and profit from digital goods and games. Native to the platform, SAND is the medium of exchange for all of your in-game needs.

In the Sandbox, players can enjoy themselves without worrying about losing money due to fluctuations in the cryptocurrency market. Despite widespread criticism that Sandbox is vulnerable because it uses cryptocurrency, it is still one of the most well-known and trusted initiatives in the GameFi industry.

Pixowl, a video game developer, released a sandbox game for iOS, Android, and Windows on May 15, 2012. It was released on Steam for PC on June 29, 2015, and its price has been fluctuating between $1.252 and $1.421.

If we look at the PancakeSwap listing for “Battle Infinity,” how likely are we to make a purchase? Battle Infinity seems to be the topic of conversation for everyone right now. The reason for this is due to the game’s high demand; the Battle Infinity pre-orders sold out very fast. On August 17 at 4:00 pm UTC, the IBAT token will be listed for trading for the very first time on the PancakeSwap DEX.

Tokens will be available for purchase again on August 17 for those who missed the presale. In contrast, token holders stand to gain 10 times their initial investment if IBAT is listed on PancakeSwap.

Do we expect Spikes to show up in IBAT?

A total of $5 million in BNB tokens were sold during the IBAT presale, 66 days earlier than expected. The second allocation was gone in less than 24 hours during the presale.

And to help the IBAT token gain traction, the company has staffed up with a hard-charging marketing group. Products like Lucky Block, which have also had great success thanks to the same marketing team.

With its novel approach and well-defined roadmap, Battle Infinity has a decent chance of surpassing Lucky Block's record-breaking earnings, which were ninety times greater than the team's marketing expenditures.

The holders of Axie Infinity and Sandbox will likely sell their coins and purchase Battle Infinity as a result. It's possible that this will increase interest in IBAT coins and drive up their value.
