Lucky Block Crypto Price Prediction: LBLOCK may retest its historic high of just under 1 cent set in February, a 500% up from its price today.

LBLOCK V2 has ended 20 daily candles above $0.002, which acts as support level ahead of its next exchange listing - on Gate.io in mid September.

Lucky Block Crypto Price Prediction: LBLOCK Price Bullish

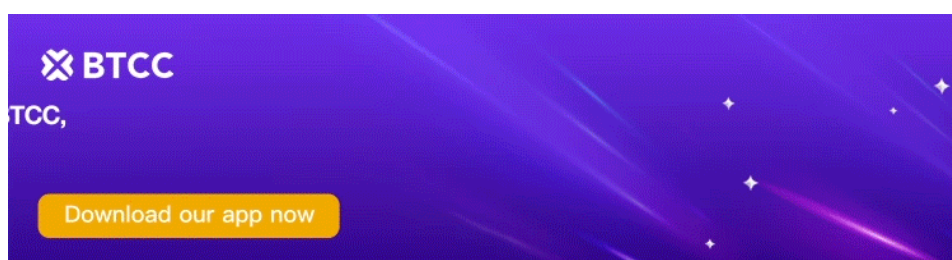

The Lucky Block price exploded on a recovery of the 50 MA and then retested as support on July 28th.

That beginning of a new bullish market structure - printing higher highs and higher lows on the daily chart - came in the run-up to LBLOCK V2 being listed on MEXC exchange.

That uptrend continued until the listing took place on August 1st, when LBLOCK V2 soared to as high as just under $0.0044.

That mini bull market went up about 300% in three days.

Since then, LBLOCK has been consolidating and trading in a sideways range - every daily candle since July 30th has closed above $0.002, with all wicks down being absorbed by buyers. The 50-day moving average is now close to $0.0016.

Will Lucky Block Reach $1?

The lack of selling pressure suggests that holders are optimistic about another upward impulse at the next exchange listing (mid-September on Gate.io). The exact date will be announced.

Gate.io exchange boasts a high 24 hour trading volume of up to $1.2 billion - ranked 5th by CoinMarketCap - and is set to become the biggest cryptocurrency exchange Lucky Block Crypto has been listed on in its seven month price history.

LBLOCK V2 has already been listed on Uniswap as an ERC20 token. The increased trading volume of its last three exchange listings - all this month - could potentially see Lucky Block retest its historic high of just under 1 cent set in February, which would be 500% of today's Lucky Block price.
