DOGS Airdrop Distributes 40 Billion Among 2.5 Million Users

The cryptocurrency community has been buzzing with excitement following a monumental airdrop event launched by DOGS, a popular meme coin. In a mere 48 hours, an astonishing 40 billion DOGS tokens were distributed to over 2.5 million users worldwide. This event marks one of the largest token giveaways in the history of cryptocurrency. The team took the Telegram platform to reveal this news, claiming every user would receive their tokens.

Remarkably, out of the 53 million DOGS bot users, a staggering 42.2 million qualified for this generous offering. The distribution primarily targeted Notcoin users, who received tokens based on their activity on the platform.

Since August 31, a substantial 2.75 billion DOGS tokens, equivalent to approximately $3.3 million, has already been distributed to 150,000 active users. These tokens not only covered platform fees but also unlocked special perks like access to staking pools.

However, there were some issues with the users who did not wish to receive the DOGS airdrop through Centralized exchange. The ones who preferred the TON wallet faced significant delays in claiming the drop, affecting their overall experience.
